IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 15: Tourism

Tourism

Hello again. Welcome back to another lesson of IELTS Up Words. I am Yasi, your IELTS mentor from Lingemy.com. Hopefully, you have learned a lot so far and can talk about travel, hobbies, language learning, and many other topics with better wording. As you have noticed, this course is not just about words. I am also giving you plenty of ideas for every topic and how you can speak about them, so make sure to learn as much as you can out of each lesson.

In the previous lesson, we talked about traveling and the ideal travel destination. In this lesson, we will focus on a related topic: tourism. As you may know, we have different types of tourism, such as cultural tourism, culinary tourism (trying out different food and going on food tours), and ecotourism (holidays and travel that involve causing less damage to the environment than usual and that make people aware of the need to protect the environment). We also know that tourism can have both positive and negative impacts on communities. Now with these in mind, let's get to today's question.

Do you think there are also negative impacts of tourism?

Yes ,of course .There are many downsides to tourism that can negatively affect the local people. For example, young people who go on holiday away from their parents can sometimes change their normal standard of behavior. Fueled by alcohol, they can do damage to themselves, the community, and even cultural heritage. This is most tangible during peak seasons when cities are packed with tourists. These tourists might disrupt the locals' normal routine and sometimes even increase their working hours.

Speaking Tip

Part 1 Sample Answer

And now before we finish this lesson, take a look at the below question, which is a common part 1 speaking question, and its response. What do you think about this response? I've analyzed it in the audio file of this lesson. Make sure to check it out.

Do you like to travel?

I do, yes. I love traveling. It is my biggest passion in life, and I think exploring the world is what can truly satisfy my curious mind.
