IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 28: City Life vs. Country Life

Hello there, dear friend! You are back with me for another lesson of IELTS Up Words! Woohoo! Twenty-eight lessons down!

Now let's move on to the lesson of the day, which is about city life and country life. Which one do you prefer anyway? Personally, after living in the city for almost thirty years, I would trade places with someone who lives in the country any day! I want to live in a picturesque little town by the ocean with dense forests, vast meadows, and rolling hills nearby. Bustling city centers and congested roads don't appeal to me anymore. Instead, I want to spend my days somewhere in the middle of automated . Haha. Is that a lot to ask?

How about you? I have another question too. Think about it and answer it, like always.

How has life changed over time in the countryside?

It seems to me that life in the countryside has changed significantly in many aspects over the past few decades. For example, most families used to stay together and work on farms generation after generation, but that is not the case anymore, as many young people are migrating to the city. Furthermore, thanks to modern technology, most rural jobs such as farming have become mostly automated, making it easier and more profitable for farmers. Overall, I think, for the most part, life in rural areas has changed for the better.

Speaking Tip

Mind Mapping

Mind mapping is a practice of mapping out your thoughts around a specific topic or range of topics.

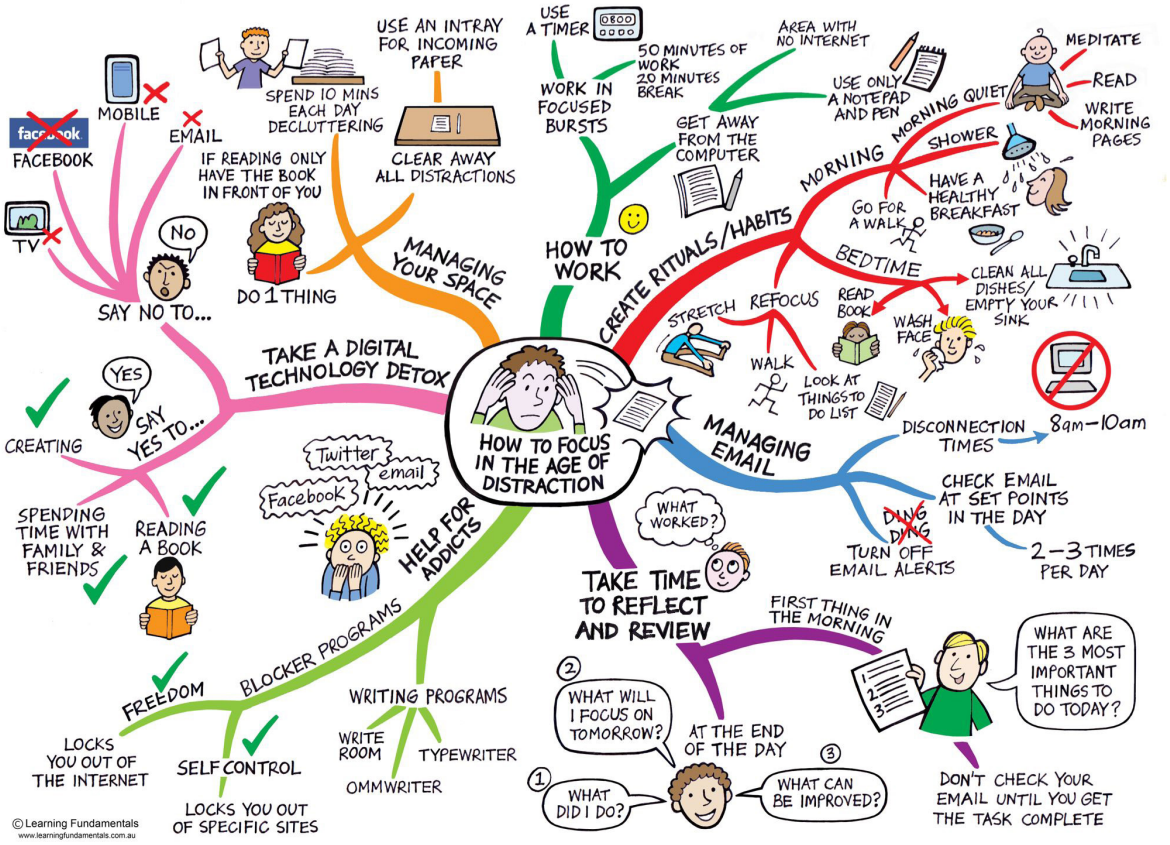

Mind mapping helps us follow the natural thought process.

One of the main strengths of a mind map is that it is very easy to find every individual piece of information.

Three steps of making a mind map: 1) write down a central idea; 2) start creating the main branches; 3) add more details by adding detailed branches.

Include drawings or pictures to make the mind map more useful.

Mind mapping is a great tool to help you review vocabulary and grammar.
