IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 44: Time

Hello, and welcome to lesson forty-four of IELTS Up Words! Let's start this lesson by reflecting on the previous lessons, shall we?

Do you see any changes in the level of your English? If so, what? With the benefit of hindsight, what should you have done differently?

We say "with the benefit of hindsight" when we want to talk about a past event and what we would have done differently, or what we think of it now. For example, with the benefit of hindsight, moving to a bigger house was a mistake. You can also say "in retrospect."

Anyway, since we are now halfway into the course, it is a great idea to look back and see what went wrong or what worked. Because before you know it, this course will finish. You will get to lesson eighty in the blink of an eye.

Time is a strange thing, isn't it? When we were younger, it seemed to drag on, but as we grew older and began to have a lot on our plates to deal with, we started to feel constantly pressed for time. It seems like there are not enough hours in the day anymore. And I believe the modern age has made it even harder to find spare time because of all the distractions and activities that it offers. At this rate, I think we will enter old age next to no time. Therefore, we should learn to slow down and quit this rat race before it is too late and cherish every moment. But of course, I don't mean that we maintain the status quo at all costs. Change is a part of life, and we should accept it and learn to move with the times.

Pro tip: Start keeping a diary. It helps bring back fond memories or refresh your memory when needed.

Hopefully, this was a thought-provoking and eye-opening lesson for you. Haha. After having learned the expressions of today, answer the following question using some of the expressions and ideas from this lesson.

Do you think our lives are changing too quickly?

Speaking Tip
