IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 46: Communities

Hey there! Welcome back to another lesson of IELTS Up Words! I am Yasi, your IELTS mentor from Lingemy.com. In this lesson, let's talk about us!

We are a community of language learners and language lovers, aren't we? We love learning languages and interacting with people from other countries, right? That is why we are learning this beautiful language. Do you know what is so great about communities of language learners? It is that they are very accepting of new members. People of all ages and from all walks of life can join in. They won't single you out if you make a mistake or humiliate you for a slip. Instead, they will support you and be there for you when you need guidance and help.

But I can't speak for other communities. In some communities, you have to observe certain rules and conform no matter what. If you try to stand out in that community, the other members might react and dislike your unconventional ways. In those communities, you have to say goodbye to your individuality and forget about shunning their values if you want to stay. But my advice to you is to stay away from cliques and don't give in to peer group pressure to go along, and don't let anyone impose their ideas on you. Okay?

Now, let's get to the question of the day. Ready?

What can we do to help new people feel part of a group?

Well, I guess there are several things we can do to help them feel that way. One thing that comes to mind is that we can assign them new roles and tasks or ask them to participate in an event with the rest of the group. For example, we could ask new people to prepare food for an upcoming get-together. By making this contribution, they will naturally be accepted by the rest of the group and feel like they belong. Another thing we can do is to look for ways in which they are similar to the rest of the group to nurture a sense of belonging in them. We can ask them to sit and have a friendly chat with the group to find these similarities and mutual interests.

Speaking Tip

Convince the Examiner

- Do not use memorized responses.
- Your response should be convincing in part three.
- If your response is underdeveloped, you will lose marks.
- Develop your response by supporting your ideas, giving examples, and mentioning results.
