IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 54: Weather

This is lesson fifty-four of IELTS Up Words! Welcome to another one of our lovely lessons! Haha. What do you think about my sense of humor?

I don't have a biting sense of humor, as no one has ever been offended by my jokes and remarks. I do, however, use sarcasm a lot. Sarcasm is when you say something in a way that you actually mean the opposite. For example, if I say "Isn't it lovely how the weather is only deteriorating?" in a sarcastic way, I am actually not happy with the fact that the rain won't let up. In fact, I am genuinely annoyed. Haha! What is more, some people don't get sarcasm, like Sheldon from The Big Bang Theory, so be wary of how you use it and when. It goes without saying that you should not speak sarcastically during the IETLS speaking test.

Now let's move on to the main part of the lesson, which is about the weather! What is your favorite type of weather? Can you talk about it for two minutes straight? You have had hours of practice by now, so it should be easier than it used to be. Am I right?

First, let's answer two part-one questions about the weather.

What is the weather like in your country?

The weather in my country can be harsh sometimes, especially during the winter when it gets freezing cold and the summer when it is scorching hot. To be honest, I prefer to live in a milder climate.

Does the weather affect your mood?

Yes, definitely! I am in a happier state when the sky is covered with clouds. In other words, rainy days put me in a good mood, whereas sultry summer weather makes me ill. Yes, it is true. I enjoy those so-called gloomy days when it is pouring with rain, or when a blanket of fog comes down, or even when the wind picks up and storm clouds appear. Needless to say, I am not particularly fond of clear skies and swelteringly hot days.

Most people think otherwise, though. During tourist seasons, for example, you see a lot of holidaymakers booking hotels that are conveniently located near the beach. Their long-awaited holiday is nothing but a stay at a beach resort where there is unbroken sunshine and where they can soak up lots of sunshine.

Speaking Tip

On Accents

- Accent and pronunciation differ widely
- Accents typically differ in the quality of the voice, pronunciation, and distinction of vowels and consonants.
- The accent is not marked in the speaking test of IELTS.
- You can improve your American, Australian, or British accent by imitating the way people talk in TV shows and movies.
- The imitation technique is also quite helpful when it comes to improving your pronunciation.
