IELTS Up Words!

Lesson 64: Fashion & Clothing

Hello there! You are listening to lesson sixty-four of IELTS Up Words! I am here to help you up your vocabulary game! And, like always, we are going to focus on a specific topic to learn related words in the proper context because this is one of the best methods of learning new words and solidifying those connections in your brain. So, for today, let's focus on the topic of fashion and clothing!

Do you consider yourself a fashionista? Do you care about keeping up with the latest fashion trends?

If you ask me, I don't think I am that fashion-conscious, and I prefer practical clothes over chic ones. I don't care about what is in fashion or what item of clothing is a must-have according to the trendsetters. I usually go for a classic look, and all I care about is avoiding fast fashion at all costs and purchasing high-quality products from local brands instead. I own very few clothes and frequently give away pieces that I don't wear enough whenever I declutter my wardrobe because I hate hoarding.

There is a stigma around the topic of having your younger siblings wear your hand-me-downs, but I think we should overcome it by educating people about the damage the fashion industry is causing to the environment, and by reminding them of the fact that our natural acquisitiveness is neither good for the environment nor our bank balance.

While in many countries people pride themselves on thriftiness, the converse would appear to be true for the people of Iran and the US. Why is our appetite for stuff so insatiable? Why are we so greedy? Why do we always want more? Why do we waste our hard-earned money on a silk dress or on suede shoes that we know we will never wear?

Overall, I think we should put an end to this ferocious way of consumption if we don't want our children to live in a world full of piles of trash.

Fashion is another frequently-asked topic in IELTS speaking. I was asked some questions about shoes once, so take this topic seriously and make a list of your favorite brands, pieces of clothing, and practice talking about them.

Now, let's finish this part of the lesson by answering two part-one questions that seem to be popular these days in IELTS.

Would you pay a lot to buy jeans?

I think I would. Yes. Because a pair of premium jeans probably cost a lot, but I don't mind because it will last longer, and, therefore, I won't have to buy another pair for a long time. So, I think it is reasonable to invest in high-quality clothes.

When was the last time you went shopping for shoes?

Mmm, it was about six months ago if I am not mistaken. I bought a pair of sandals to wear on a trip that I was about to go on. They were made of leather and stylishly designed, but unfortunately, I lost them on the trip, so I didn't get to wear them a lot.
