Now, let's answer the last part-two question of the course. Shall we?

Describe an interesting hobby you have. You should say:

What it is

When you started it

How long you spend on it

How often you do it

And explain why you like it

I would like to talk about reading books, which is a pastime that I really enjoy. I have to say that it hasn't been long since I developed this hobby, though. Of course, reading for pleasure had always been in the back of my mind, but I never got around doing it much. Eventually, a little over two years ago, I decided to give it a try and challenged myself to read every day for thirty days, and that is how it all started. I have been reading consistently and indiscriminately for the past two years. In other words, I read anything that I can get my hands on, be it a lousy fantasy, a memoir, or a mystery because this way, I get to see different perspectives and worldviews. Plus, if you limit yourself to a certain type of book and dismiss everything else, you might miss out on some amazing works of literature.

I usually read every night before falling asleep for about thirty minutes, and I guess having stuck to this habit is why I am now an avid reader. I also used to drink tea when flipping through the pages of my books to help me unwind but stopped because it disrupted my sleep.

The reason I love this hobby of mine is that I feel like books spark my imagination and expand it. What I mean is that reading sets me free from the boundaries of the real world. I can be anything and anyone when I read and experience the world through the eyes of the protagonist. For example, I just finished reading the final novel of the Harry Potter series, which was a huge page-turner, and I feel as if I lived in that magical world of witches and wizards myself.I truly think this is reason enough for anyone to cultivate a lifelong reading habit.

Speaking Tip

- Activities can include a hobby, sport, game, or skill.
